The University of Lethbridge now has an Internationalization Strategic Plan. Come to find out what “internationalization” is all about and how you can make it a part of your courses.

We will share conversations with those who have included an international component in their teaching.

If you wish to do a 7-minute presentation on your experience with internationalization, or simply want to know what “internationalization” is all about, register for this half-day event:
