

Philosophy Department

Summer Session 2019

Course Offerings

Summer Session I (May to June)

PHIL2000A - How to Lie

Instructor: Gillman Payette

Days/Times: MW (9:00 - 11:50 a.m.)

Course Description: Lying is a topic studied in philosophy, linguistics and psychology, to name but a few. This course will look at how lying is defined/characterized, studied, and used from a number of perspectives, but focusing on the philosophical tradition.

Recommended Background: PHIL1000 (Introduction to Philosophy)

Summer Session II/III (July - August)

PHIL2000B - Philosophy of Education

Instructor: Duncan Maclean

Days/Times: MW (13:00 - 15:50)

Course Description: What is the purpose of education? We will study three of the greatest thinkers on this question: Plato, Rousseau, and Dewey.

Recommended Background: PHIL1000 (Introduction to Philosophy)