

Learn how to use computers in the Humanities!

April 22nd to 25th

Join our free 4-day workshop called "Digital Humanities for Beginners." It's for students, researchers, and educators in subjects like literature, philosophy, art, history, and the social sciences. If you want to know how to use computers to explore these areas, this workshop is for you!

Here's what we'll cover:

- Techniques for different purposes like creating maps, analyzing texts, and making visualizations.
- Helpful advice on how to manage a project.

The workshop can be added to your "MyExperience" transcript. It is a great way to impress future employers.

To sign up: <https://bit.ly/HIL-DH-Summer>