Wood, Paper, Leather, and More: Creators
of Masks and Their Materials
of Choice

11:00AM –
12:00PM
TH241

This talk explores selected mask-making practices in contemporary Europe. Drawing from archival documents, first-person interviews, and participatory observations, “Wood, Paper, Leather, and More” focuses on masks created specifically for the theatre. It offers a rare glimpse into the relationship that exists between artists and the materials they choose to create with.
