

Open Access Week

Oct 23-29, 2017

Find out more about Open Access, Open Education, Open Data, and Open ULeth Scholarship during Open Access Week. Free and open to all, at the U of L Library!

Monday October 23

OPUS: Open ULeth Scholarship, our Open Access Digital Repository

12:00pm - 1:00pm: Library, Room L1170A

Introducing OPUS – learn about the University of Lethbridge’s open access digital repository, what it is, how to use it, and why it will benefit you as a researcher. With Nicole Eva and Rhys Stevens (Librarians).

How to Start an Open Access Journal

3:00pm - 4:15pm: Library, Room L950

Open access journals are the future of scholarship. Join us for a discussion about how to start up and run an open access journal. With professors Bryn Hughes (Music) founder of the journal Engaging Students: Essays in Music Pedagogy and Dan O’Donnell (English) founder of the U of L Journal Incubator.

Tuesday October 24

Shoptalk: Open Educational Resources

9:00am - 10:00am: Teaching Centre, Room L1126

Discussion of WHY Open Education matters and WHAT different shapes Open Educational Practices take in post-secondary contexts today, on both global and local levels. With Joerdis Weilandt (Teaching Centre).

Open Access Monographs (Webinar)

2:00pm - 3:15pm: Library, Room L1114

Panel discussion about current initiatives and models for publishing Open Access books, including University of Ottawa Press and Open Humanities Press. Webinar hosted by Sandra Cowan and Emma Black (Librarians).

Wednesday October 25

Shoptalk: Open Educational Resources

12:00pm - 1:00pm: Teaching Centre, Room L1126

Discussion of WHY Open Education matters and WHAT different shapes Open Educational Practices take in post-secondary contexts today, on both global and local levels. With Joerdis Weilandt (Teaching Centre).

OPUS and Oranges: Open ULeth Scholarship

11:00am - 1:00pm: UHall/Centre for the Arts Atrium

Visit the Open Access booth in the Atrium, learn about Open ULeth Scholarship (OPUS) and other open access scholarly resources.

Thursday October 26

Open Data: An Introduction

12:15pm - 1:15pm: Library, Room L950

What is Open Data and why is it important to your research? Where can you put research data, and where can you find it? With Emma Black and Sandra Cowan (Librarians).

Friday October 27

Open in Order to Raise the Visibility of my Research

12:00pm - 1:00pm: Library, Room L1114

Making your next article Open Access - what’s in it for you? Come and find out some personal benefits of choosing an Open Access publisher. With U of L Copyright Advisor Rumi Graham.

Hosted by the University of Lethbridge Library
OPEN ACCESS WEEK 2017
www.openaccessweek.org | October 23 - 29

CSSC Teaching
CENTRE