

'U-Hall Architecture Walking Tour'

October 13 - 12:00PM – 1:00PM

Meet at E690 in University Hall

Who: Mike Perry, University Archivist

What: University of Lethbridge opened its doors in 1967 and consisted of the building we now know as University Hall.

Designed by Arthur Erickson to blend in with its coulee surroundings, U-hall received international acclaim for its architectural originality and functional design. University Archivist Mike Perry will lead a walking tour through some of the architectural highlights of the building that many of us work in every day and don't notice. A light lunch will be offered after the tour.

Hope to see you there!
