University of Lethbridge highlights for the week of November 25 to December 1

The University of Lethbridge has several events lined up this week that may be of interest to your readers, viewers and listeners. Members of the media who are interested in covering these events are encouraged to contact the individual event organizer directly.

Frosty Fair

Monday, Nov. 25, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Markin Hall atrium

Student Affairs at the U of L has organized the first ever Frosty Fair to give students a chance to have some fun, enjoy refreshments and get their holiday shopping done. The Holiday Shoppe offers gently used items that have been donated and nothing is priced over $5. The Table of Games gives students the opportunity to play board or card games or work on puzzles.

Take Two Speaker Series — Seeking Justice, Understanding the Law

Thursday, Nov. 28, 3:30 p.m., AH100, Andy's Place, Anderson Hall

Drs. Caroline Hodes, a professor in the Department of Women & Gender Studies, and Kelly Williams-Whitt, associate dean with the Dhillon School of Business (Calgary campus), will explore the origins and evolution of Canada's justice system, the role of government and the potential for change in the future. Hodes will talk about her idea that the law is not about justice by emphasizing the need for a discussion about truth before reconciliation. Williams-Whitt will discuss her observations about the failure of the legal system to provide justice to marginalized communities.
