

Modern Languages Film Series

Fall 2017: Let's Eat!

All films shown @ 4:30 in TH 241 or D634

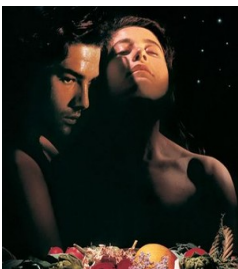

1. Jiro Dreams of Sushi (USA & Japan, David Gelb, 2011)

This documentary looks at the life and work of Jiro Ono, the 85-year-old master chef whose tiny sushi restaurant and huge reputation have created a legacy. (In Japanese with English subtitles)

Thurs, 14 Sept
(TH 241)

Wed, 20 Sept
(D634)

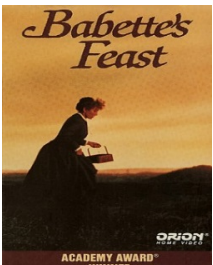

2. Como agua para chocolate (Like Water for Chocolate) (Mexico, Alfonso Arau, 1992)

(Mexico, Alfonso Arau, 1992)

In the tradition of magical realism, a tale of forbidden love and the power of food to communicate the deepest emotions and wildest impulses of the cook to everyone who eats what she prepares. (In Spanish with English subtitles)

Thurs, 28 Sept
(TH 241)

Wed, 4 Oct
(TH 241)

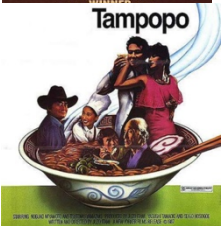

3. Babette's Feast (Denmark, Gabriel Axel, 1988)

Denmark, in the late nineteenth century. A French refugee from the Franco-Prussian war surprises the quiet, puritanical residents of a small village with her sublime cooking. Based on a novel by Isak Dinesen. (In Danish, Swedish and French with English subtitles)

Thurs, 12 Oct
(TH 241)

Wed, 18 Oct
(TH 241)

4. Tampopo (タンポポ) (Japan, Juso Itami, 1985)

In this spoof of a spaghetti Western, a young widow revolutionises her ramen noodle shop with the help of a passing trucker, a retired master, and a bit of spying. Other outrageous food-centered anecdotes emerge against this backdrop. Rated "R". (In Japanese with English subtitles).

Thurs, 26 Oct
(TH 241)

Wed, 1 Nov
(D634)

5. Fuera de carta (Chef's Special) (Spain, Nacho G. Valilla, 2008)

Chef Maxi is an openly gay, top-ranked chef in Madrid. But he will question his values and success when his children from a prior marriage decide they want to get to know him, and his life is turned upside down. (In Spanish with English subtitles)

Thurs, 9 Nov
(TH 241)

Wed, 22 Nov
(D634)

6. Les Glaneurs et la glaneuse (The Gleaners and I) (France, Agnès Varda, 2000) & Theatre of Life (Italy & Canada, Peter Svatek, 2016)

Two documentaries that take a hard look at food waste and the people who choose to turn it into plenty, whether by reclaiming the tradition of gleaning in France, or by starting a very special soup kitchen with top Italian chef Massimo Bottura. (In French, Italian and English with English subtitles)

Thurs, 30 Nov
(TH 241)

Wed, 6 Dec
(TH 241)

