Celebrating International Day of Women and Girls in Science

Thursday, February 11 is the International Day of Women and Girls in Science. The University of Lethbridge is excited to celebrate the extraordinary contributions our researchers, students and alumni are making in diverse fields, as well as share their words of inspiration with the next generation.

Check out stories.ulethbridge.ca/tag/women-in-science/ for a look at some outstanding examples of just how powerful women and girls are in driving scientific discovery and innovation. Read their stories and view their videos as they engage and inspire the next generation of scientists.

We invite media members to celebrate with us by sharing these stories or reaching out for your own interview opportunities.
