ABOUT THE PROGRAM

“The program truly opened doors and connected me to valuable work experiences. Excellent support and care from the program and Co-op coordinator will help you become job ready upon graduation.”

Venus Xiong

(Fall 2022 Program Participant)

The CIBC Navigator Program at the University of Lethbridge enhances co-operative education accessibility for students with disabilities (SWD)

Through CIBC's support, the program provides comprehensive resources and accommodations to boost academic and professional success, welcoming all students registered with the University's Accessible Learning Centre

The program builds strategic partnerships with employers to develop quality co-operative education placements, ensuring meaningful opportunities that benefit both students with disabilities and participating organizations while providing ongoing support throughout the placement process

PROGRAM BENEFITS

Students participating in the CIBC Navigator Program actively engage in transformative learning experiences via their work-terms, noting the following:

- › reported an increase in social and community connection, bringing a greater sense of belonging
- › reported an increase in personal well-being through positive self-identity, sense of purpose and confidence
- › expressed increased engagement with overall academic and professional learning

Overall, Navigator students have a better chance of gaining meaningful employment after graduation

HOW TO ACCESS THE PROGRAM

Register With The ALC!

If you are a student with disabilities (SWD) but have not registered as such with the Accessible Learning Centre (ALC), you can do so by following these steps:

1. Book a consultation appointment with the Accessible Learning Centre through: disability.inquiries@uleth.ca
2. From there, you will be assessed and referred to a work intergrated learning instructor capable of accomodating your needs and processing your admittance to the program

Already Registered?

If you are already registered with the ALC, please email us at career.bridge@uleth.ca to begin your program registration!
