Opportunity to discuss Indigenous storytelling with Dr. Don G. McIntyre

Dr. Don G. McIntyre's understanding of the world is based on the stories he was told as a child. On Thursday, Feb. 26, 2026, he will present the University of Lethbridge PUBLIC Professor Series talk, Indigenous Childhood Stories Transform Worlds — Want Some?, at the Sandman Signature Lethbridge Lodge.

Media are invited to speak with Dr. McIntyre in advance of this talk to learn how Indigenous storytelling shaped his world view and how he believes its lessons can help answer the complex questions we are all facing today.

WHAT: Media availability

WHEN: Monday, Feb. 23, 2026, 10 a.m.

WHERE: Markin Hall Atrium (Dhillon School of Business)

As many media members are unable to attend the evening PUBLIC Professor Series events, this is an opportunity to discuss the researcher's work.
