Is a Career in Actuarial Science for You?

Abstract: This is a talk for all students who are interested in pursuing a career in actuarial profession. Topics such as: “What is an actuary?”, “Who might consider the actuary profession?”, “How does one become an actuary?”, “Who are the potential employers?” and “Current issues and focus areas” will be covered in this talk.

About the speaker: Shiraz Jetha, a member of the Board of Governors of the Society of Actuaries, has been in the actuarial field for over thirty years with a diverse background. He has specialized in the Health Care, Life Insurance and Pension Plan Consulting. His work background includes setting premiums rates, and designing products, financial reporting and projections, risk management and company-wide “impact” studies. He currently operates a consulting business which combines consulting on individual pension plans which are of interest to owner-employees of corporations as well as international consulting in insurance and financial areas.

This is a good opportunity for ALL STUDENTS to have a first hand information on an area which is very much in demand these days.
